In honor of TV Turn Off Week, we'll be hosting a family game night for families with kids of all ages.

WHY TURN OFF THE TV?

As per the Center for Screen-time awareness, "TV cuts into family time, harms our children's ability to read and succeed in school, and contributes to unhealthy lifestyles and obesity."

Think about this...

"On average, children in the US will spend more time in front of the TV (1,023 hours) than in school this year (900 hours)!"

So, why not join us for a night of family fun! We'll be teaching games for both children under age 6, and those age 8 and older! Come play some terrific games with us!!

ThinkFun, the makers of many award-winning games such as Rush Hour, the traffic jam game have come out with some exciting, new games for kids 8 and older. These games all come with their own storage—they make great games for vacations and gifts!

Hot Spot

In this game of robot motion, players help the red robot jump to the hot spot on; the game board. The red robot must work with a team of blue and green robots to create the right path. With every successful leap, the red robot will be one step closer to the finish line. It's time to jump into action and move the red bot to the spot!

Pete's Pike

There's no room for error on the edge of this icy mountain top! Luckily, the natives are here to help. Teamwork is the name of the game as Pete relies on five mountain goats to help him scale the peak. Pete and the goats must work together—if they start moving in separate directions, Pete will be left out in the cold.

Cover Your Tracks

Fit the Pieces—Hide the Trail! Cover the tracks to avoid being followed! In this high stakes spatial development game, kids must cover their tracks on a journey through mud, sand, snow and cement. As the game play progresses, it will get harder to cover all those tracks! Kids will have to step lightly if they hope to cover their trail
